

March, 2005 - NetStar-1 Purchases Certain Assets from Wharten Logistics, Inc.

NetStar-1, Inc. (Rockville, MD) has announced that it has purchased specific assets from Wharten Logistics, Inc., a NJ-based provider of technology services. Under the agreement, Wharten's contracts with Lockheed-Martin Corporation will be purchased for an undisclosed cash amount. The contracts provide technical services to various programs awarded to Lockheed-Martin in support of the US House of Representatives.

In a statement from NetStar-1's President and CEO, Bill Strang, he said "We're happy to have reached an agreement with Wharten's management team. These programs will help position NetStar-1 as a key sub-contractor to Lockheed-Martin, and extend our reach into the US House of Representatives."
